> For Padre Pio, faith was life: he willed everything and did everything in the light of faith. He was assiduously devoted to prayer. He passed the day and a large part of the night in conversation with God. He would say: 'In books we seek God, in prayer we find him. Prayer is the key which opens God's heart.'

In Word & Deed

Years ago, people who came from humble homes would say, “It’s not much, but it is home.” When some of their sons became priests and would be assigned to parishes with large rectories and churches, the priests would joke, “It’s not home, but it’s much!”

The Apostles fell into the same trap, but their superlative was “the greatest.” They were debating among themselves who was the most important--the first struggle for power in the Church! Jesus changes the focus. Being the greatest is about service, not power. When one can serve the needs of all, even a small, powerless child, then greatness is achieved. That greatness is measured by the standard of love and selflessness, not strength and domination.

Practicing our faith gives us a vision to see others as God sees them and act accordingly. We have the power to change the world, one life at a time. Feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, visiting the sick and consoling the sorrowful are not far off works of mercy. They are the stuff of everyday life, the practical ways in which we serve, heal, and pray. It is not played out on a world stage, nor will it make the news. It does, however, make a difference. It’s not just something; it’s much!
